Weber Club Takes Up Different Problems of Helping the City.

The Weber club has taken up in earnest the improvement of the Ogden river canyon road, a project which is now before the city council for consideration. At a meeting held at noon yesterday it was oedided to appeint a committee within the next few days for the purpose of pushing the construction of a boulevard to connect with one of the macadamized streets now leading to the bench and from that point on to the canyon.

A boulevard such as is planned by the Weber club would solve the dust problem, which has already been renieved to a certain degree by the county commissioners.

"They can be destroyed by spraying with kerosene emulsion. To do this successfully, you would need to rig a gas pipe long enough to cover four or six rows with an attachment for a spray nozzle for each row. By hanging this behind a wagon or cultivator about a foot from the beets, with the nozzle pointed forward and down and then drawing a stick along in front so as to turn the beets about the time the spray struck them, most of these little hoppers could be killed.

"Robert Wilson, the county fruit tree inspector, can give you valuable information in regard to pumps, regulating the apparatus, and making the emulsion on a large scale, if you so desire. I am going to Sanpete and Sevier counties to examine the work of this pest, and, if I have any further suggestions when I come back, I will drop you a note.

"I might be able to call and look the fields over in about ten days if you could arrange to have some one to take me around." (Signed.)

At yesterday's meeting President O. B. Gilson was authorized to appoint the club's delegates to the Transmississippi congress and the thirteenth annual session of the Irrigation congress.

The vacancy in the directorate caused by the resignation of Harold Peery was filled by the selection of B. L. Goddard. At its meeting last night the Weber club appointed numerous committees to further the interests of the club's outing over the Lucin cut-off and arrange for rector of the Ogden choir, has come forward with an explanation of the position taken by the local singers.

Mr. Ballantyne claims that there is no truth in the statement that his choristers will go to Portland flying false colors, and says that in all transactions with the irrigation congress committee he has sought to impress that it was the choir from Ogden and not from Sait Lake that was to be heard.

He says that Chairman C. B. Boothe of the executive committee of the Mining choir."

Fred J. Kiesel also takes issue with Mr. Stephens and even hinted in an interview yesterday that the Ogden choir was by all means anxious to preserve its identity. He voiced his belief that the delegates would not go away disheartened at the singing of the Ogden choir.

The meeting was again held at the residence of Prince Dolgorukoff. The first resolution proposed protested against the violation for private rights was going on in the same old way and it was difficult to say whether the zemstvoists really intended to work in the national interest. It was obvious, the part separating the thorities.

A delegate from Tver, central Russia, maintained that the resolution was not strong enough, and it was finally referred to a committee to be redrafted. The scheme for a constitution as elaborated by a committee of the congress was next discussed and its details criticised by the delegates.

The chief points raised were the omission of adequate proportionate representation and the non-recognition of female suffrage.

Mrs. Mary Dimmick

Her first letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a sufferer for the past eight years with a trouble which first originated from painful menstruation—the pains were excruciating, with inflammation and ulceration of the womb. The doctor says I must have an operation or I cannot live. I do not want to submit to an operation if I can possibly avoid it. Please help me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, Washington, D. C.

Her second letter;

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"You will remember my condition when I last wrote you, and that the doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I received your kind letter and followed your advice very carefully and am now entirely advice very carefully and am now entirely well. As my case was so serious it seems a miracle that I am cured. I know that I owe not only my health but my life to Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and to your advice. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them."—Mrs. Mary Dinmick, 59th and East Capitol Streets, Washington, D. C.

How easy it was for Mrs. Dimmick to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and how little it cost her—a two-cent stamp. Yet how valuable was the reply! As Mrs. Dimmick says—it saved her life. Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of just such letters as the above, and offers ailing women helpful advice.
